ABOUT HERITAGE CHRISTIAN SERVICES

At Heritage Christian Services, people always come first. It's what the founding parents insisted on, and it's still the backbone of the culture more than 35 years later. Because of that dedication, the agency upholds the highest standards of support for children, older adults and people with developmental disabilities, and when needs arise – like respite for overextended families – HCS steps in to fill the gap.

The agency has grown from one group home in 1984 to now serving thousands of children and adults. It offers homes, day programs, respite, employment services and much more to ensure people receive the supports they need from staff members who are dedicated to serving people with dignity and compassion. Today, its reach includes 16 counties that extend from Chautauqua to Wayne and Seneca counties, plus three child cares. Throughout its growth, quality residential programs for people with disabilities have remained at the heart of the agency. To help families who are waiting, HCS continues to add homes and programs where people can have meaningful work and be active in their neighborhoods.

Heritage Christian is nationally recognized for its work in strengthening community involvement. The Pieters Family Life Center received the Community Builder Award for providing a place where people with and without disabilities interact naturally. Heritage Christian was recognized with the Full Community Inclusion Award, given by the American Association on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities and won an Ethie Award from the Rochester Area Business Ethics Foundation. The agency has also been inducted into the Compass program by the New York State Office for People With Developmental Disabilities, which means HCS is one of New York State's top service providers for people with disabilities.

A HISTORY OF INNOVATION

While Heritage Christian Services started with residential care, the agency has grown to provide a variety of services including:

Self Directed Services Even as Medicaid continues to change, people have the option of choosing what supports are most important and which agency they would like to work with. HCS has already built the infrastructure for newer ways Medicaid is doing business with agencies. In fact, HCS supports more than 1,000 people with self-directed plans/budgets, and have surpassed the 1,000 mark on the number of self-hire employees. For people exploring options other than a traditional neighborhood home or day habilitation setting, the agency offers customized options where people choose who they would like to live with – if anyone – and select the supports they would like to have in their home. Self-Directed services are also available for children with supports such as respite and access to community classes and memberships.

Consumer Directed Personal Assistance Program (CDPAP) People, or their designees, can hire family members, friends, neighbors or other people they trust to be an attendant. An attendant can perform all the tasks usually assigned to a home health aide such as assisting with eating, dressing and bathroom needs. An attendant can also perform tasks that nurses usually perform such as administering medication, cleaning wounds, suctioning tracheotomies, giving insulin injections and administering oxygen to a person on a ventilator.

The attendant is an independent consultant paid through a fiscal intermediary, like Heritage Christian Services. CDPAP is overseen by the NYS Department of Health.

Community Habilitation Community habilitation offers people the chance to receive individualized support in their homes and at places they like to visit. The person and his or her staff work together to plan what the day should look like. Maybe that's a trip to the library and a visit to the gymnasium. Maybe that's a few hours of volunteer work, followed by a cooking lesson.

Fiscal Intermediary Services With the support of a care coordinator/care manager, individuals and their families determine if their needs are best met through traditional services, where an agency handles most of the details, or if a more customized plan would be better – one that gives people the responsibility of coordinating how and where they receive services. HCS partners with over 100 brokers who support people to build and maintain their self-directed budgets. HCS FI coordinators are active in the self-direction process from start-up (the budget building phase) through budget launch and implementation. The HCS fiscal intermediary helps people to manage Medicaid and New York state funds through ensuring the budgeted items meet available guidance, reviewing and approving funding requests and co-managing self-hired employees.

Respite The respite programs at Heritage Christian Services offer short-term care for children and adults with special needs, which gives their caregivers the gift of time to devote to other areas of their lives. Some programs can offer overnight support while others provide after school respite. In addition, HCS serves families who are interested in hourly respite or in having a staff member provide respite in the family's home.

Day Habilitation Heritage Christian Services' day programs offer a variety of opportunities for individuals with developmental disabilities to develop skills for personal growth. With several dozen sites in Rochester and Buffalo, NY, participants enjoy a wide range of activities and make a significant contribution to their communities through volunteer service each year.

PROGRAMS SETTING A NEW STANDARD IN CARE

OUR RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

Close to 400 people live in homes operated by Heritage Christian Services. In traditional homes, people are supported 24 hours a day by a compassionate, highly trained staff who assist them with their daily routines and achieving what is important to them. That same top-notch care is available for people with disabilities who would like something outside of a traditional home, something that's tailored to the number of hours of staffing each person needs and allows for more flexibility in the number of people at each site.

Agency nurses are also available around the clock and clinical staff are available for those that may benefit. Family members are invited to stop by their loved one's home at any time. HCS believes in supporting the whole person – body, mind and spirit – and offers opportunities for people to grow in all of those areas. The agency welcomes people of all faiths and makes sure people have the opportunity to attend places of worship, volunteer for causes they believe in and become part of the larger community.

At Heritage Christian, staff members are expected to model love in action – the kind of love that is patient, humble and kind. Employees are committed to focusing on people's strengths and opening their hearts to the people they serve.

“There is an enormous, devoted, brave, and beating heart at HCS. It stretches out among all the people who work and serve there.”

Robin Pulver, whose son David is supported by Heritage Christian Services.
